COMMUNICATION PROBLEM

I know you believe you understand what you think I said, but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant.

Bored with the past . . .

Dreaming of the future.

The time has come
 To find a direction;
 Toss away inhibitions,
 Focus on our goals —
 Expand our minds —
 To include not only ourselves,

But others
 In our concerns and aspirations;
 Become
 What we learn
 And what we wish to be . . .

Loneliness is . . .

Dedicated To The Senior Class of 1975

Senior Sneak

Seniors, having been here four years, know the territory —
They know how to get away with almost anything possible and even some things that aren't possible If there are several ways to do something — by this time they have tried them all . . .
They are experts on excuses for anything and everything, talking teachers into a higher grade than they deserve,
how to get around every obstacle, knowing who to go to — for what Excuses are their best skill — they have come up with some good ones like

"My grandmother died"
(One person's grandmother died four times in one year)
"I know I had it made yesterday but the film didn't come out so they have to have it taken over . . ."

"My sandal broke"
Original ones like —

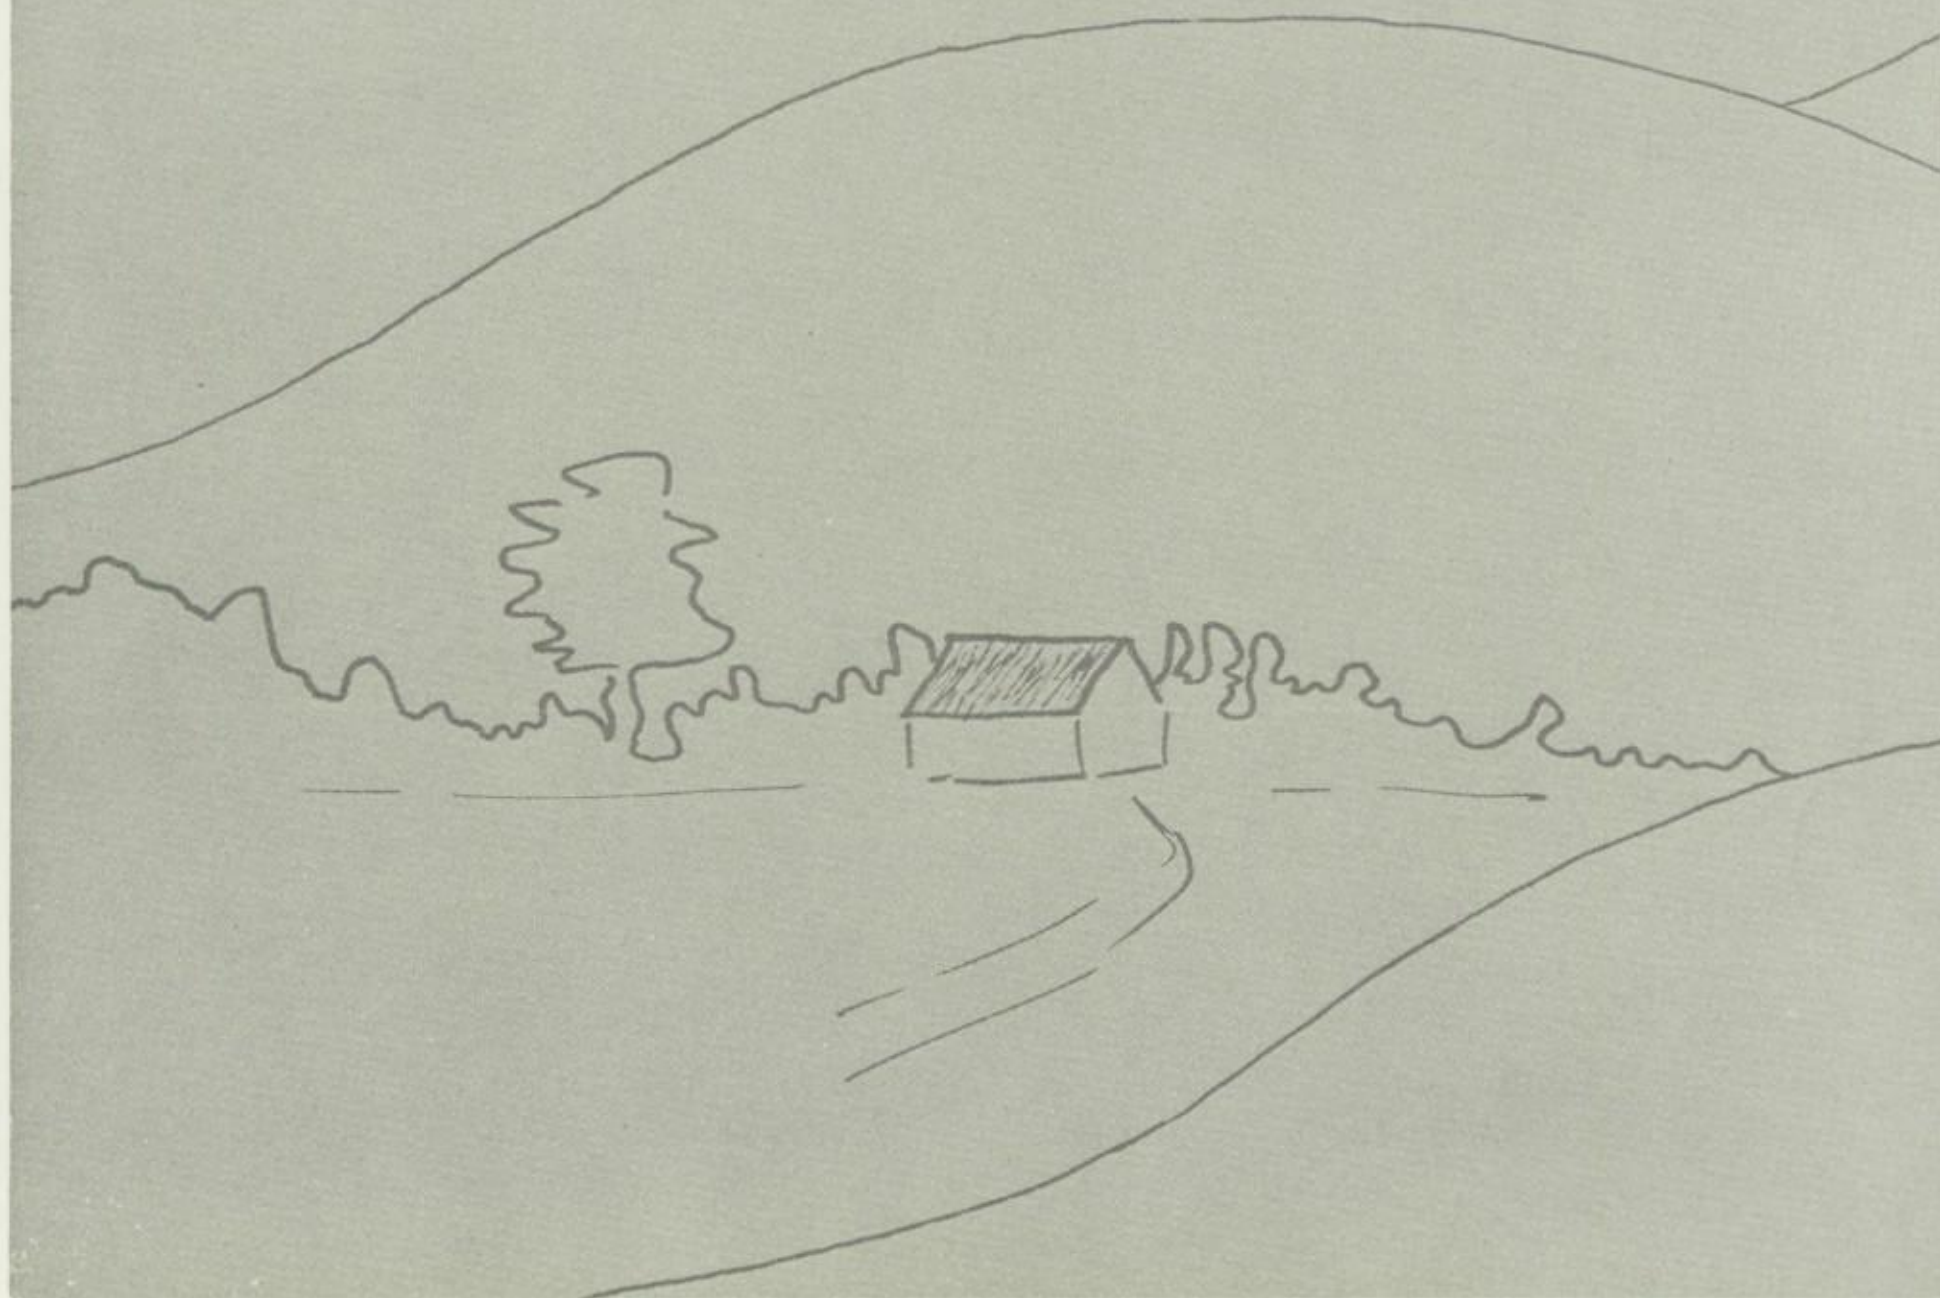

"I need a drink of water"
"I have to go talk to my guidance counselor"
"I have to call my mother — I don't feel so well"
"I need to go to the library"

Seniors are adept at pulling tricks like Going to the library and then leaving — and if the teacher goes to check on you —
"Why were you in the bathroom . . ."
Saying that you lost a contact and you have to retrace your steps through the halls and somehow you make it to the parking lot . . .
Faking a broken leg all day long and getting out of class early — and then driving off at 50 mph . . .

There's No 'Next Year'

Your senior year in high school
Your last year
Sure — you're glad its over
But it's so final . . .
It's the last time you'll be able to do any of this
You used to be able to say
"There's always next year"
And all of a sudden you can't say that anymore . . .
And there's that one day You're walking down the hall and It hits you —
That you're really and truly going to graduate and leave all this behind,
Next year, high school will be a thing of the past
The only way to go back and relive any of high school is through your memories
And the year goes so fast
There isn't time to do all you want to do
This is the year you realize just how much everyone has changed, including you.
College, or whatever you may do in the future, will be a new and different experience but somehow it could never be the same . . .
Your last bonfire . . . Your last football homecoming . . .
The last time you play in a game or march . . .
Your last "First basketball game" . . .
Your last district tournament . . .
Your last dance . . .
With everyone being together now, it's sort of hard to think about people being three thousand miles apart Just think, some of your friends you may never see the rest of your life Everything is so final . . .
It's the last time . . .

The Panther Staff of 1975 would like to thank Mrs. Helen Carpenter for the help she has given us this year. We are sure that the past Panther Staffs would also like to have their part in the thanks we wish to express. Mrs. Carpenter has been the advisor for twelve years. Each annual that she has advised has been a success. Although the Panther was dedicated to the Seniors this year, we would like to dedicate the Panther Staff pages to her. This is our special way of saying "thank you" for the endless hours she has spent and the helpfulness she has always shown.

RHS MARCHING

A new director for the RHS Marching Panthers meant new ideas and many changes. It all began with a week of practice in that hot, hot, sun before the new school year began. Before it all ended it was practice in the cold, cold, mornings with wet shoes from a dew-covered football practice field. The contest at Mayfield brought a lot of excitement and some disappointment, but the RHS Marching Panthers did not fail as they showed their pride in many parades. The 1975 marching year ended successfully with the thoughts for new ideas and many changes in the 1975-1976 marching season.

 I can sell seven subscriptions in that time
 That's what the salesman said.

DECA

The Distributive Education Club had many activities during the year. In September we attended a workshop at Western Kentucky University. In January the club held a local contest with Russellville business men acting as judges. Winners on this level participated at the regionals at Western Kentucky University. First and second place winners at Regionals earn the opportunity to participate on the state level. This year our club took two winners, two 2nd place winners, two 3rd place winners at Regionals and one 4th place winner at State. Pam Morgan is regional treasurer.

The float, which the club built, placed first in the Tobacco Festival. We have sold linen calenders, had a successful car wash and a bake sale. We honored our employers and recognized the accomplishments of our outstanding members during the "Employer-Employee Banquet."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The new 1974-75 year started very successfully for the National Honor Society. There were approximately 30 new members initiated into the society at a special initiation program held in the library. The National Honor Society worked very hard in preparing baskets at Thanksgiving for the nursing homes. A Christmas party was held at the high school when the students decorated the school tree and had a very enjoyable party for the celebration of the Christmas holidays. The National Honor Society sponsored Teacher Appreciation Day by having a coffee for the faculty. Several members attended the State KANHS Convention where Renee' Fuqua won the essay competition and the R.H.S. scrapbook won first place along with a tie for second place in the Outstanding Chapter competition. The N.H.S. annual banquet brought to a close the end of another exciting year for the National Honor Society.

SPEECH AND DRAMA

By most standards, the Speech and Drama Club had another outstanding year. Again they led the state with the largest National Forensic League chapter. They finished second at the Bullitt Central tournament and third at Trigg County. The team was runner-up in the region and 17 entries earned trips to the state speech festival. Catherine Hancock and Elizabeth Wilson placed third and fourth in the state, respectively at the NFL tournament. Successful productions of "Here and Now" and "Get Witch Quick" highlighted drama. Yet Coach Jim Turner and veteran speakers experienced disappointments in not winning the regional for a third consecutive year and in not taking a regular season championship. In years to come, however, this year will be remembered as another successful chapter in the RHS Speech and Drama saga.

SCIENCE CLUB

Standing as a tribute to this year's science club is a modern greenhouse which came about as the result of long hours of work by dedicated members. The greenhouse, located south of the science wing, had been the dream of many club members for years. This year's club took the final step toward making it a reality by obtaining deGraffenried funds. President Regina Moore and Treasurer Tom Williams took carefully laid plans before the school board and deGraffenried Legacy Administrator G. Sam Milam and received approval. This year will also be remembered as the time of the Great Aluminum Can Saving Scandle, an ecology-minded fund raising project. Highlights of the club year included a field trip to the Manned Space Center in Huntsville, Alabama, the hosting of another successful science fair, and participation in the Warren East and Regional Science Fairs.

Science Club officers were:
Bob Williams — President-Elect
Regina Moore — President
Mike Robbins — President-Elect
Dale Clark — Typist
Marianne Rhea — Secretary
Tom Williams — Treasurer

STUDENT COUNCIL

Although Student Council did not appear extremely active this year, when they did something, it was big. For the first time in RHS history, permission was given by the school board to have a dance. The dance was added to the football homecoming festivities and was held on Saturday night following the game on Friday. It was a sock-hop type of dance and was held in the gym. Music was provided by a local band. In the end, the dance was a success and enjoyed by all. This year, as in the past, the Council gave Christmas baskets to needy families in the area. Clothes, toys, and food were collected and delivered to those less fortunate. This is a non-profit project, but for those who helped, it is a learning experience. Even though some people may say that the Student Council has been unsuccessful this year, they do not realize that it is hard to serve all of the people, all the time. The Council was successful in getting a dance, a project which has been tried many times in the past. Students should realize that this could be a giant step to things even greater.

STUDENT ACTIONS FOR EDUCATION

Student Action for Education has been very successful this year. The major project this year was the coat-check which was held during the basketball home games. The money received from this project was used to complete two projects. A potters wheel was bought for the art department and a japanese pin oak tree was planted in front of the school. Our members also tutored Dyslexia children (children with learning disabilities). Other projects of community service included helping in the library, office, and aiding teachers in various ways. We were active by delivering Thanksgiving baskets. We attended the Fall and Spring District meeting where we won the skit contest "The Good Ole Days in SAE." Two girls ran for district officer. Penny Vaughn was elected Treasurer. May 19-23 was SAE week which consisted for salutes to the teachers and the annual spring picnic at Mrs. Flowers' home. Sponsors were Mrs. Clennie Sue Rector and Mrs. Joanne Flowers.

S.A.E. officers were:

ALL SPORTS AWARD PROGRAM

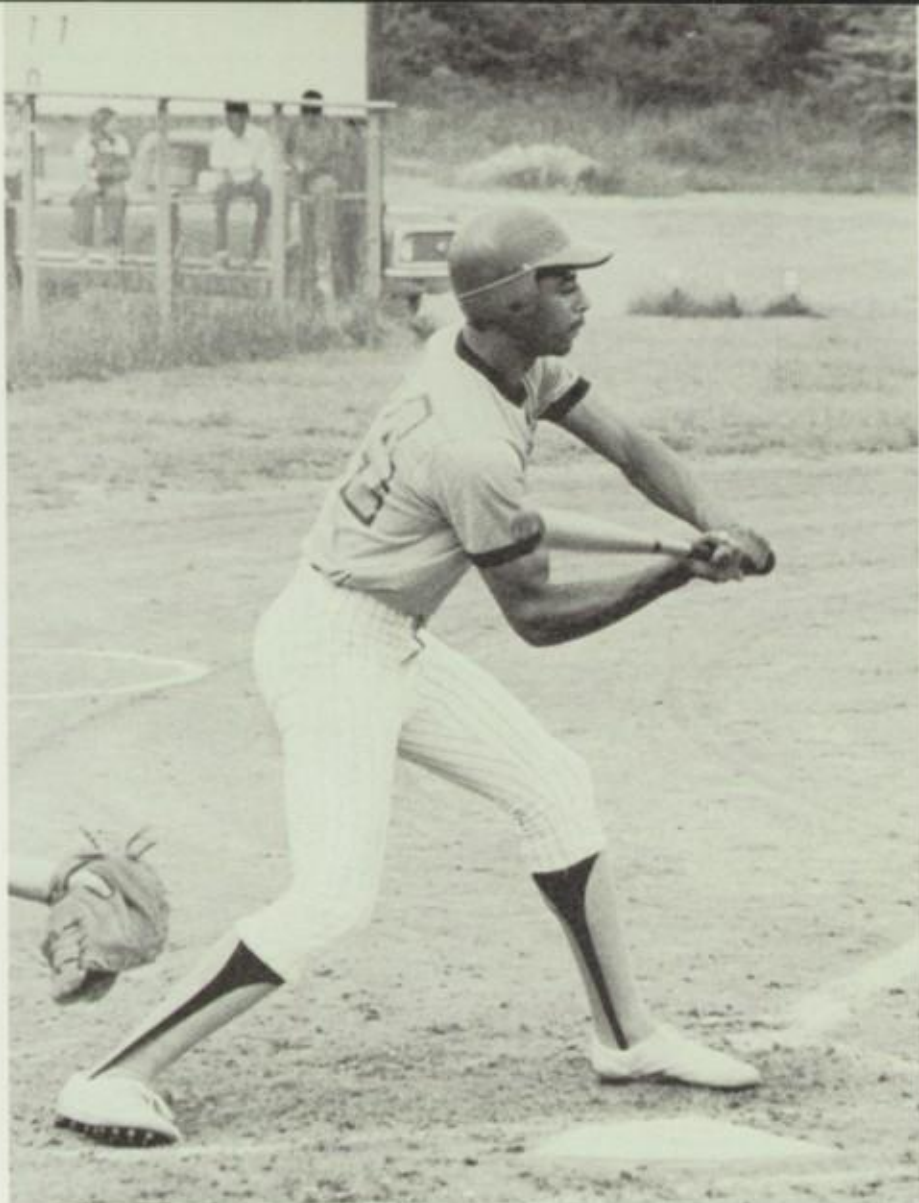

12-letter man Phil Todd led all award winners while Gayla Grider and Willie Wells won special honors at the Russellville High School All-Sports Awards Program.

Todd received a plaque listing his 12 letters — four each for football, basketball, and baseball.

Todd had previously been named the basketball team's most valuable player and best rebounder, the baseball team's best defensive player, and the football team's best defensive player. Wells was voted the Mayor's Trophy by the coaching staff for intangible qualities such as leadership, hustle, and giving one's all. He also won the basketball team's best free throw shooter and the track team's most improved award in addition to a senior plaque.

Grider, who was named the best runner on the girls' track team, won the WRUS award for the senior athlete with the highest grades.

Forrest Killebrew used a quick take off, super speed, and strong legs to lead the track team to the Class A championship. He won the long and triple jumps and placed second in the 220.

Phil Todd

Forrest Killebrew

Willie Wells and Gayla Grider

YEAR 11?

Your junior year
So what, you're one of 120 crazy people who go screaming through the halls for minor matters such as — getting a driver's license; being able to go on a date without your father or another friendly couple;
getting a fantastic job;
or any other small thing that happens your junior year . . .

What happens your junior year?
Nothing much besides:
getting stripes —
in band,
being able to drive to school (even if it is your mother's old car), taking harder classes, seeing some of your best friends play sports —
some even start, or going to your first party . . .

Class of '76

In the PANTHER, next year, you will list your achievements and activities with a little 3 beside your name — your entire junior year dismissed by a little 3 . . .
Even though you'll do things like — getting to know the best teachers and the worst, starting to think about college (ACT, PSAT-NMQST, SAT, etc.) knowing how to skip class and not get caught and getting a little priority over freshman, sophomores, and juniors.

Your junior year —
is spent preparing for senioritis by giving wrong directions to stupid sophomores and watching initiations
So there you are — your year 11 . . .

RIPENING

Underclassmen —

What happens when you change from an under to an upper?

It won't take long to get used to it all —

Suddenly you're no longer the underlings — the picked upon, the dumbest.

You will soon forget the agony of being young as you coolly tell a new Freshman that English has moved down to the baseball field because of construction or that Chemistry is upstairs.

As a Junior, you will probably have a lot more freedom.

Class of '77

Unfortunately,
 along with freedom, responsibility hops in.
 You don't have to fool with all those required courses but with your luck all your classes are ten times harder . . .
 Along with the opportunity of driving on all your dates, not doubling and not riding the bus to school, is the opportunity of having your first wreck . . .
 Now you can get a job that keeps you busy four nights a week . . .
 All the fun of being a junior!
 So, even though you were picked on,
 made fun of,
 embarrassed, etc., your sophomore year wasn't all that bad.

BIG STEP

"Take the scapel and slit only the first layer of skin"

" $x + x = 2x$ "

"To breathe correctly you must sit up straight"

Wow, to think of some of the exciting things you learn as freshman.

Surely there is room for advancement!

Finally,

you're part of the student body and depressing as it may seem,

there is no more recess, show n' tell, or milk breaks.

Running from class to class is the only exercise you can get anymore and the thrill of blowing into your milk carton is gone.

You no longer need your rest mat in order to take a nap.

A stack of books will suffice

You don't hear your teacher say the familiar

"eat all the food on your tray"

in fact,

you're lucky to see a teacher in the cafeteria at all.

Remember when girl's were classified in the same group as bath's and eating spinach and the only time you chased them was when you wanted to make them "it"

How quickly things change . . .
You no longer hold hands to keep from getting lost in the halls.

You discovered a better reason the first time your eyes met in the hall.

Things are changing but us freshmen aren't sure whether the changes are for the better or the worse.

We've made our way into this push, pull, no give, all take, required with no credit world.

We'll someday be the leaders
but for now,

We must be satisfied with being the underclassmen, the little people,
Be patient with us and give us some time.

We're clinging to the vine now but by next year
We'll have some color and taste.

Time spent in the cafeteria dieting doesn't seem to help Pam Statton's appetite.

"HERE AND NOW"

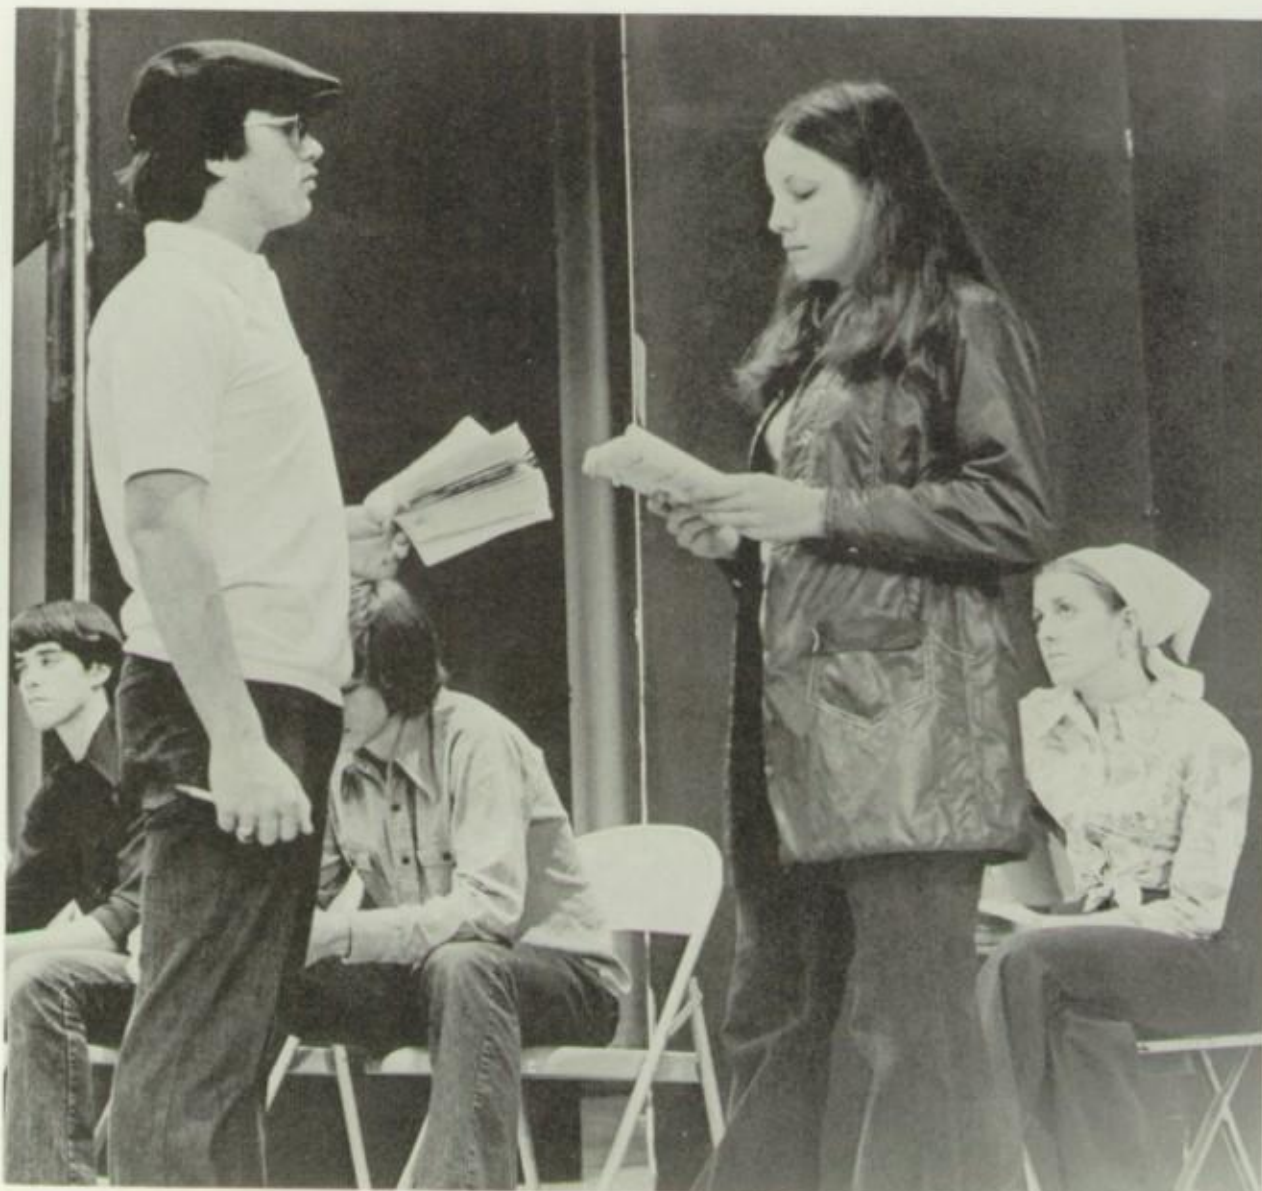

By David Rogers

"And I'm older than you," Marianne tells Sandy as she painfully demonstrates falling backward.

"Did you know I've never been kissed before? Not once, not in my whole life."

"Your costing the taxpayers alot of money to sit here and say nothing." Mac threatens group leader Diane.

Bare stage, use of play books, and a play-within-a-play made Here and Now unusual.

"You . . . you're the most unreliable of the group," exclaims Sandy after seeing that David is the one who caught her.

Watching the other cast members are Gary, Catherine, Shannon, and Renee.

"I think the novocaine in your brain is beginning to wear off," Kathy tells Mike.

"Is anyone back there? Geronimo!" David yells as he falls.

"Try to break into the circle to show that you belong," Diane instructs Gary.

"I can't let myself fall; I could hurt myself," Sandy tells the group.

Get

"Go move the flowers," Kathy orders Caleb.

Elizabeth is "as silent as the tomb" as witches and normals wait to see what's going to happen next.

"This is Mr. Atwater of the White House staff," says Mike as he introduces Mac.

Witch

"You got that still going again, Allouicious?" David asks Vincent.

Quick

"I'll go brew some 'Blood-weiser'," Renee tells the other faculty members.

Student witches are excited to learn of their job assignments.

Chairs fall as Lucinda (Elizabeth) loses her temper.

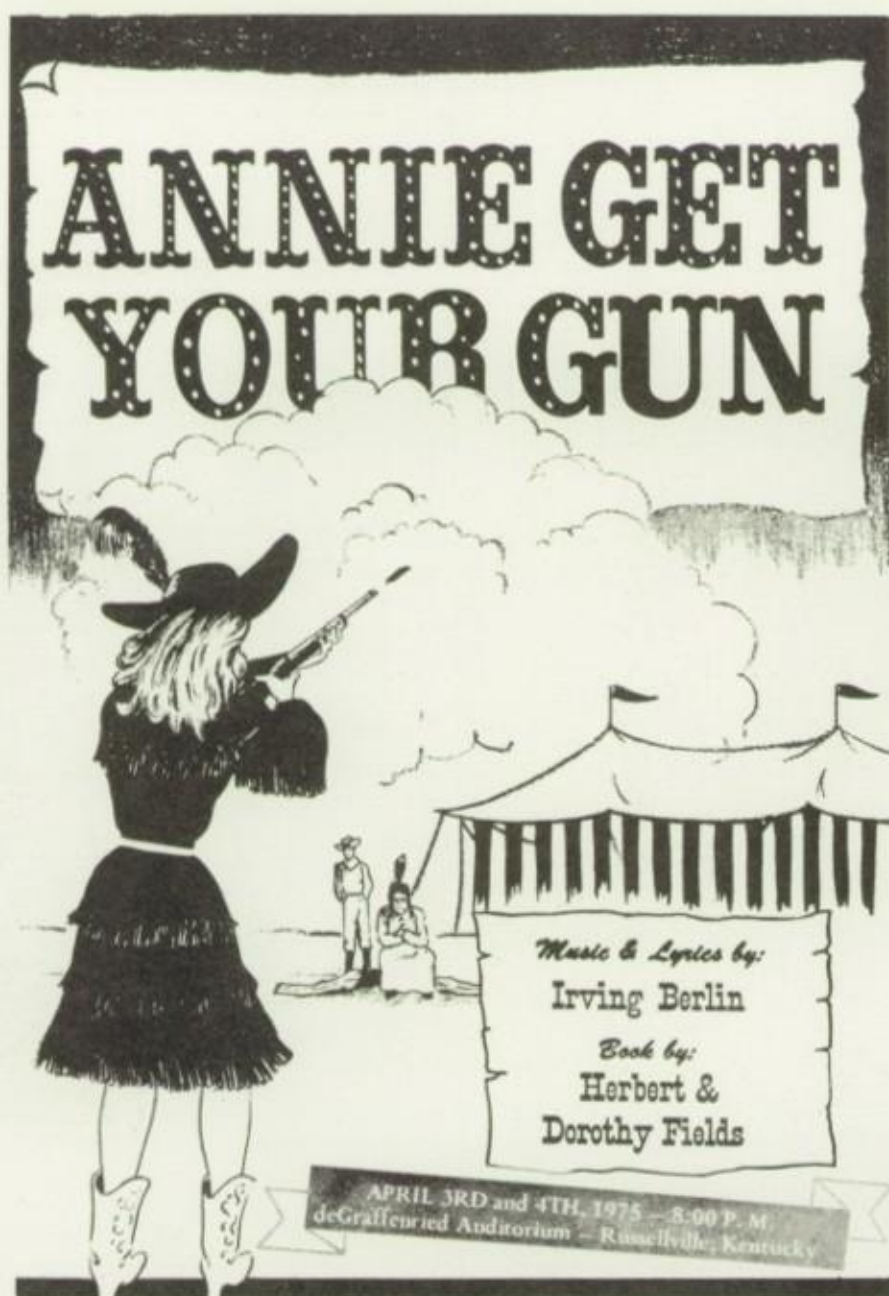

"We'll miss you, Junelle," says Regina, as the graduating witches bid farewell to Marianne.

"Peace! The charm's wound," croons Mother Hecate (Diane) as she and Mrs. Blackwell (Kathy) rush off.

COLOUR MY WORLD

*As time goes on,
I realize
Just what you mean
To me,
And now,
That you're near Promise your love,
That I've waited to share.
And dream,
Of our moments together
Colour my world
With hope of loving you.*

When the books close, and the last bell rings,
And carefree days are lost to mundane things. —
When nostalgia strikes, and your memory wanes,
And you remember the faces but not the names —
Pick up your yearbook and leaf it through,
And remember the days so dear to you.

THE CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK

Logan's only National Bank

Go placidly amid the noise and haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly, and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vibrations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.

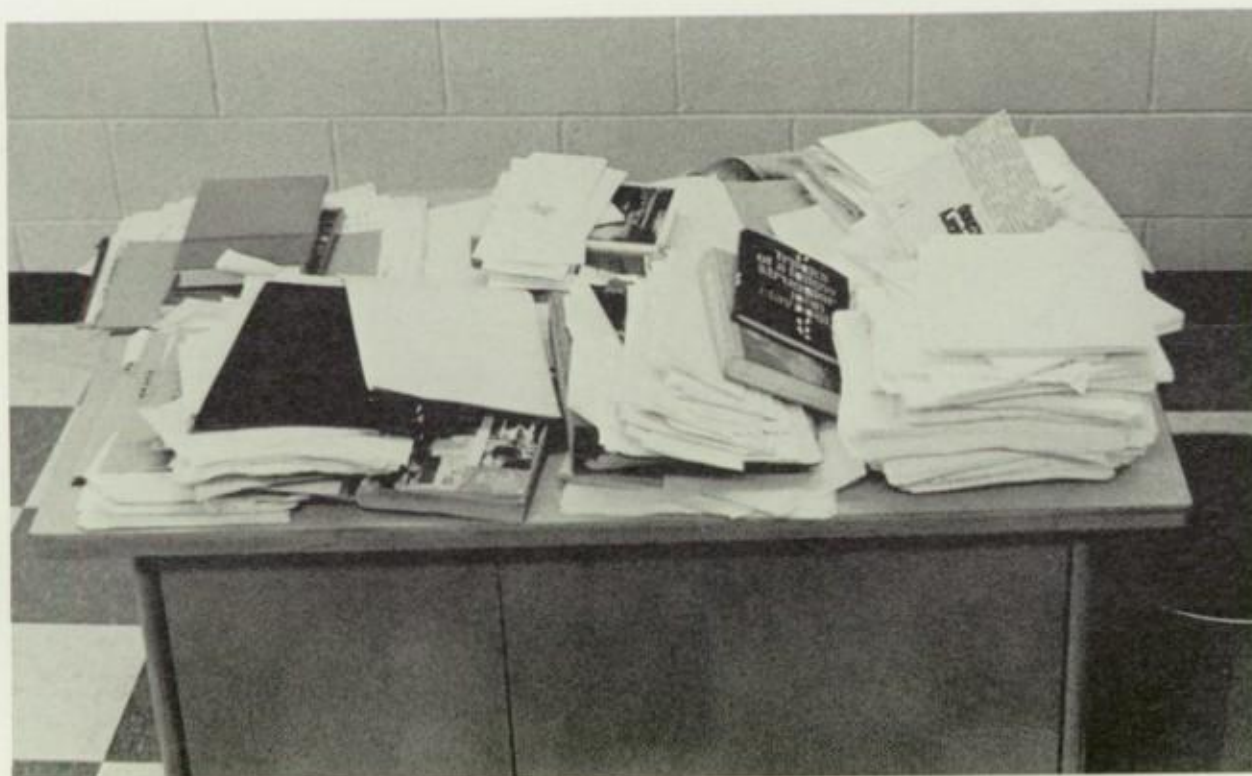

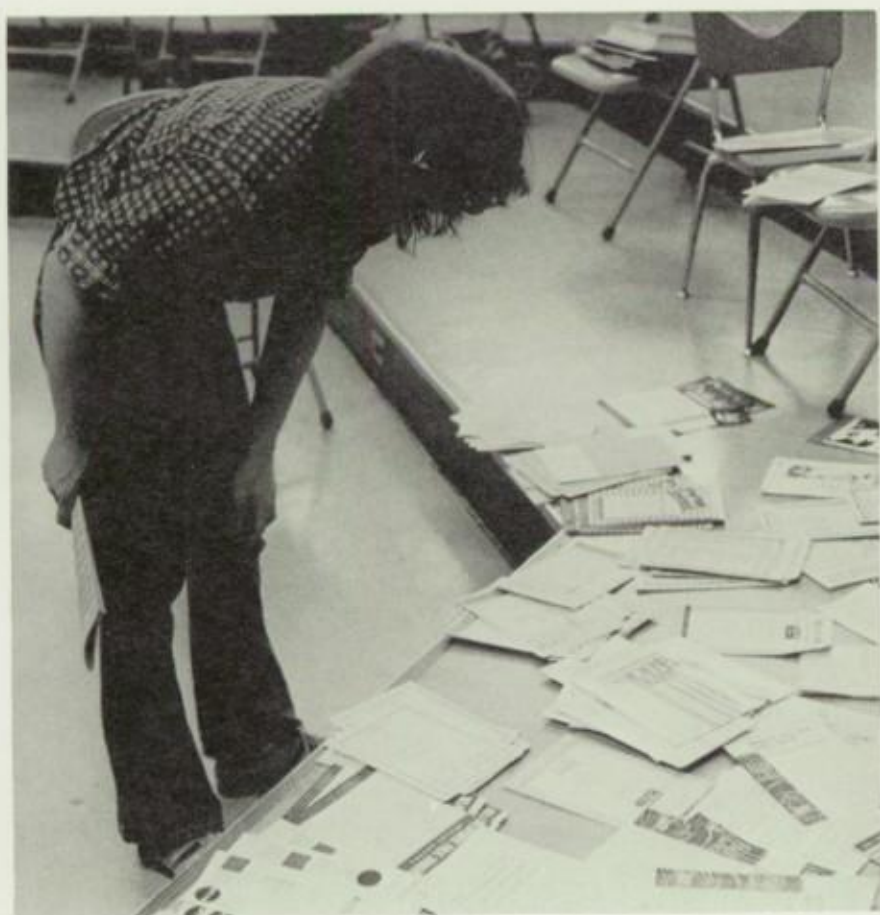

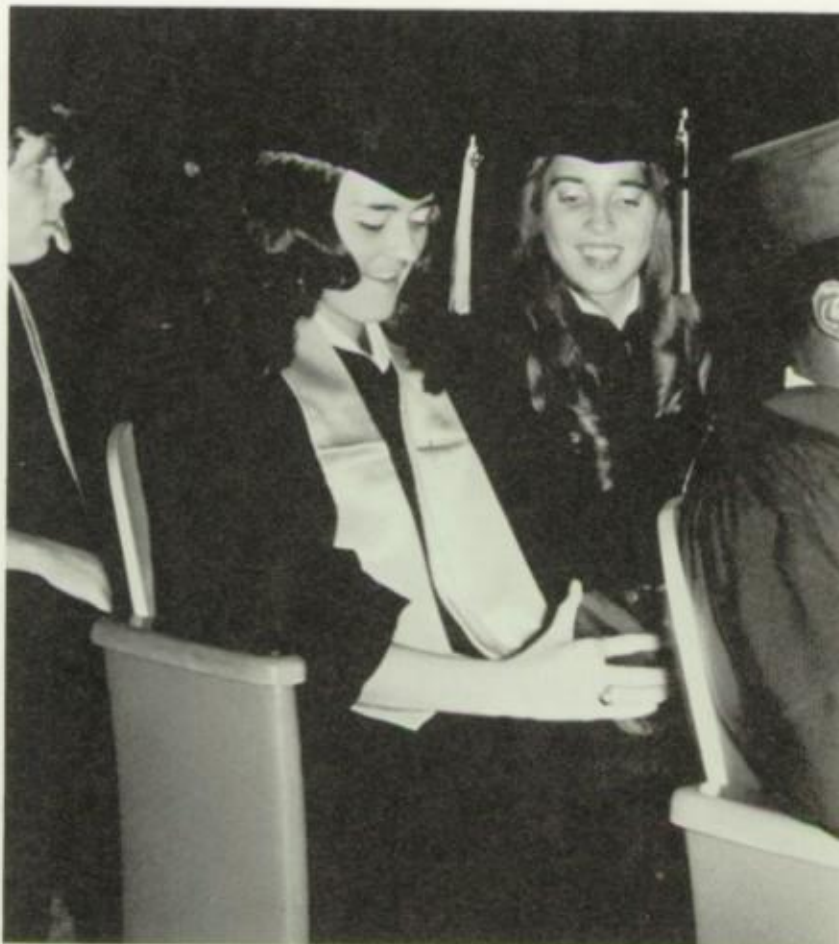

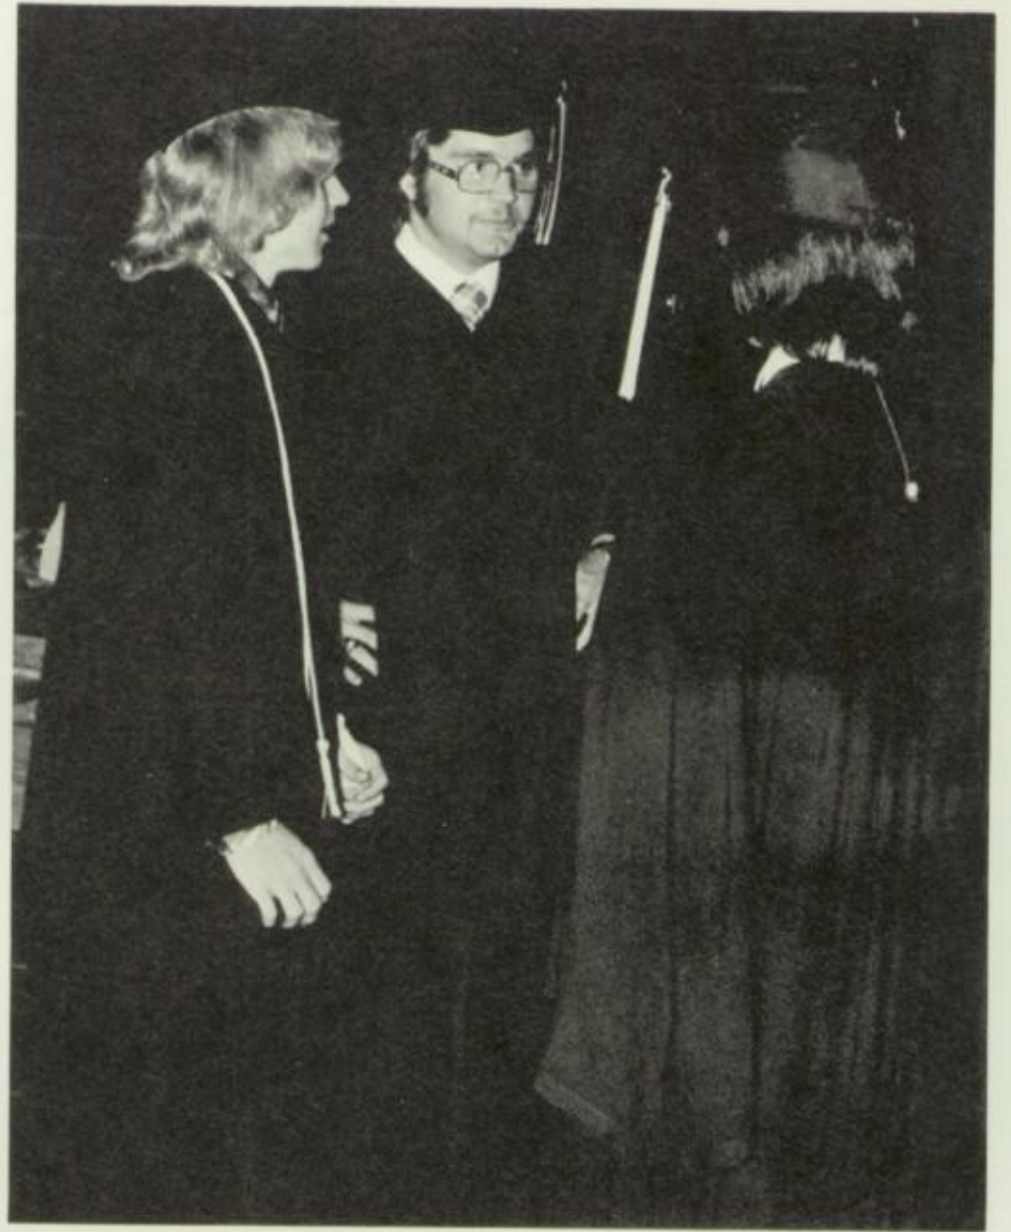

Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all acidity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass.

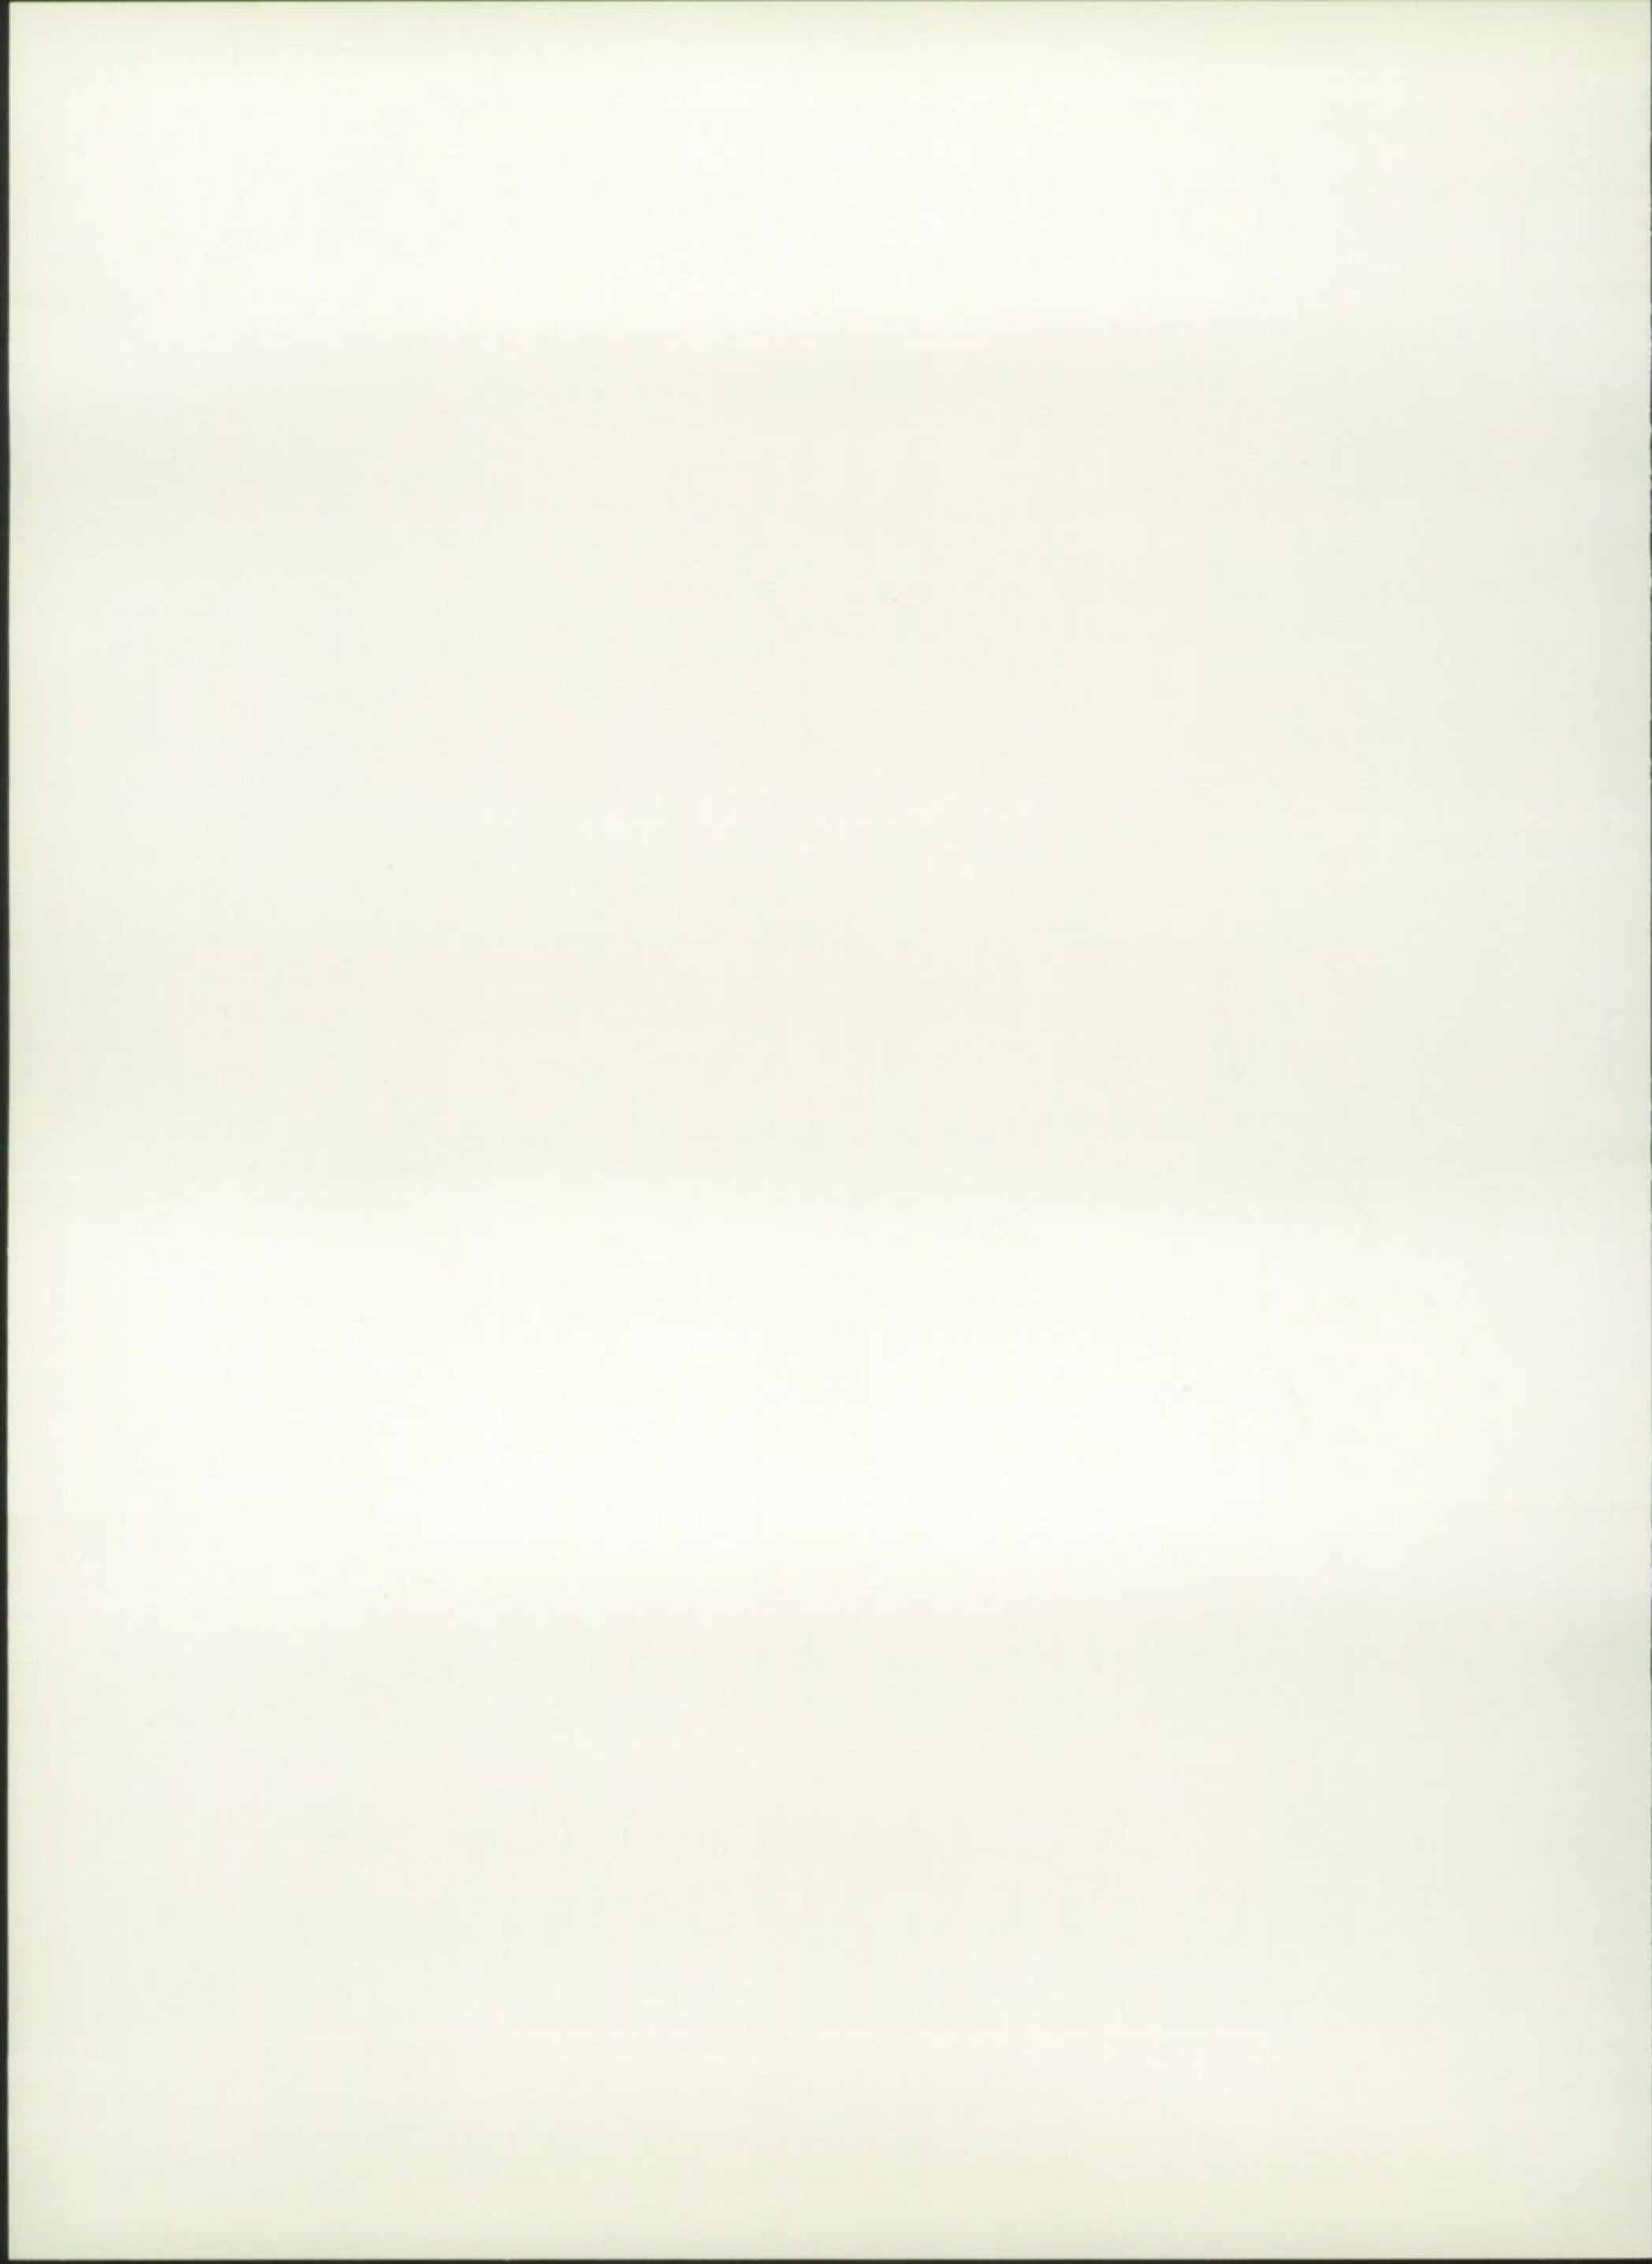

Take kindly the counsel of years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imagining. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself.

You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its shame, drudgery, and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy.
